

Conference for Young Scientists in Mathematical Economics and Economic Theory

MEET 2021

Dates: 29-30 October 2021

Location: St. Petersburg, Russia, Kantemirovskaya 3

The conference will bring together young people with expertise and interest in mathematics and economics, in particular game theory and spatial economics.

Selection committee:

Anna Bogomolnaia, Herve Moulin, Academic advisors of the International Laboratory of Game Theory and Decision Making (HSE St.Petersburg), University of Glasgow

Jacques Thisse, Academic advisor of the Center for Market Studies and Spatial Economics (HSE St.Petersburg), Université Catholique de Louvain, CORE

Sergey Kokovin, Center for Market Studies and Spatial Economics (HSE St.Petersburg) and Department of Economics (HSE St.Petersburg)

Philip Ushchev, Center for Market Studies and Spatial Economics (HSE St.Petersburg) and Department of Economics (HSE St.Petersburg)

Constantine Sorokin, International Laboratory of Game Theory and Decision Making (HSE St.Petersburg), University of Glasgow

Alexander Nesterov, International Laboratory of Game Theory and Decision Making (HSE St.Petersburg) and Department of Economics (HSE St.Petersburg)

To apply, submit papers or extended abstracts in English or Russian to meet.hse@gmail.com until September 27th, 2021.

(The earlier, the higher is the chance of acceptance.)

Travel and accommodation costs are covered by the organizers.

The conference will be followed by a course in advanced game theory by Arkadi Predtetchinski (Maastricht University) on November 1-4. The details will appear soon at <https://game.hse.ru/en/meet21-course>.

Organizers:

International Laboratory of Game Theory and Decision Making (HSE St. Petersburg)

Center for Market Studies and Spatial Economics (HSE St. Petersburg)

Contacts:

meet.hse@gmail.com